

MUSICALES AT WHITE HOUSE

Enjoyable Functions of the Past Winter.

MISSION OF CHIEF JOSEPH

CHAUNCEY DEPEW'S FAILURE IN THE SENATE.

(Special to The Herald.) Washington, March 7.—Perhaps the most enjoyable functions given at the White House during the social season just passed have been the musicales. The best home talent and nearly every foreign artist that has visited America has performed at the White House. Pianists, violinists and singers esteem it the highest distinction and pleasure, and an unsurpassed advertisement as well, to appear before the discriminating and appreciative audiences which Mrs. Roosevelt gathers for her musicales. The president is an ardent lover of music, but he takes no part in the arrangement of these entertainments. The invitations are issued in Mrs. Roosevelt's name and she selects the performers and arranges the program. Several hundred guests are usually invited and it is an unwritten law in Washington society that everyone invited should accept. In former administrations a lack of diningroom hospitality has been deplored, but at Mrs. Roosevelt's musicales the state diningroom always plays a conspicuous and popular part. The last half hour of the entertainment is practically a charming afternoon tea, when the musicales are given in the afternoon, and when given at night a mild punch and other refreshments are served. The highly polished mahogany table is always spread with rich lace and adorned with flowers and shaded candles. There is a flavor of home about the hospitality of the White House and while the Roosevelts are society people, the sincerity and simplicity of their manners and treatment of their guests make their hospitality especially delightful.

Chief Joseph. Joseph, the celebrated chief of the Nez Perces, has been one of the notable characters seen about the capital during the closing month of congress. He has been here on a fruitless mission, making an effort to obtain permission to return with his tribe to their old home in the Selkowitz valley, west of the Snake river, in Oregon. The Nez Perces were given possession of this valley by General Grant in 1873, but two years later this order was revoked and the land became part of the public domain. It is now included in Union county, Ore., and as it is thickly settled it is practically impossible to remove those who have acquired legal title to the land and to return it to the Indians. Joseph also claims a large sum of money, said to be due the tribe under the contract and arrangements by which they were removed from their old home. While Joseph and the delegation of Indians accompanying him have not succeeded in their mission, they have been the recipients of much attention while in Washington. They were invited to and attended one of the president's receptions and have been entertained at luncheon at the home of General Miles. General Miles regarded Joseph as the most skillful Indian warrior and pays

Rupture Cured Free

The Rice Method Is Unparalleled in the Annals of Medical Successes.

A Cheap Home Cure That Anyone Can Use Without Pain, Danger or Loss of Time From Work.

IS SENT FREE TO ALL.

To the thousands upon thousands of ruptured people who have worn trusses all their lives and have become discouraged, the Rice method will prove a godsend. Upon writing to Dr. W. S. Rice,

CHIEF J. H. ALEXANDER.

1787 Main street, Adams N. Y., he will freely and gladly send you a trial of his method by mail so you can test it in your own home. Do not be backward about writing. Remember it costs you nothing to try this wonderful method.

Chief J. H. Alexander of the Detroit, Mich., fire department, 40 years of age, and for seven years a sufferer from rupture in his worst form, after trying every truss on his market without relief, finally decided to undergo an operation, but was persuaded to postpone it until he had tried the Dr. Rice method, with the result that he was quickly and permanently cured. He says: "I was so badly ruptured that I feared I would have to leave the department. In fact, I did not believe anything except surgical operation would help me. No truss did me any permanent good, but Dr. Rice's method cured me, and I am today as well as ever I was in all my life. Hundreds of my associates and comrades in the department know and can testify to my wonderful cure, and I am perfectly willing to tell my experience for the benefit of others." Mr. Alexander's address is No. 103 Twenty-first street, Detroit, Mich.

The thousands of testimonials received by Dr. Rice mean more than such expressions usually do. A person may take a medicine and perhaps get well. He would probably recover anyway. But a rupture is a break in the muscles and there are no imaginative cures. The cure must be complete and in the face of thousands of such cures who can doubt that this wonderful Rice method will certainly and permanently cure even the worst ruptures.

INTERESTING, IF TRUE.

You Can Try It For Yourself and Prove It.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs or other wholesome food, and this claim has been proven by actual experiment while anyone can perform for himself the following experiment: Cut hard-boiled eggs into very small pieces, as it would be if masticated, place the egg and two or three of the tablets in a bottle or jar containing warm water heated to 85 degrees (the temperature of the body) and keep it at this temperature for three and one-half hours, at the end of which time the egg will be as completely digested as it would have been in the healthy stomach of a hungry boy.

The point of this experiment is that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do to the egg or meat in the stomach and nothing else will rest and invigorate the stomach so safely and effectively. Even a little child can take Stuart's Tablets with safety and benefit if its digestion is weak, and the thousands of cures accomplished by their regular daily use are easily explained when it is understood that they are composed of vegetable essences, aspepin, diastase and Golden Seal, which mingle with the food and digest it thoroughly, giving the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate.

Dieting never cures dyspepsia, neither do pills and cathartic medicines, which simply irritate and inflame the intestine. Food is eaten and promptly digested there will be no constipation, nor in fact will there be disease of any kind because good digestion means good health in every organ.

The merit and success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are world wide, and they are sold at the moderate price of 50 cents for full sized packages in every drug store in the United States and Canada, as well as in Europe.

a high tribute to his ability as a soldier and strategist.

Depew on Failure.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew has not added to his reputation as an orator by his career in the senate. He has made a number of speeches since his admission, none of them very good and most of them very bad. His worst effort was his two days' speech against the omnibus statehood bill, in which he voiced the opposition of the eastern prejudices against the west. He maligned New Mexico and Arizona; he attacked the Mormons and the Spanish-born citizens of New Mexico; he belittled the resources of the west, but his greatest objection to granting statehood to more western territories was his fear that the thinly populated states might gain control of the senate and invite attacks upon our form of government and lead to amendments to the constitution directed against minority representation, which would be little short of revolutionary. Senator Teller, in a two-minute talk, demolished the oratorical structure which Depew had been piling up for two days and left him with nothing but a long lecture of words to show for his long-winded effort. Senator Teller said:

"I do not wish to interrupt the senator, yet I must confess that after a quarter of a century's service, most of the time in this body, I can not hear with much patience the threat of revolution in this country; that the government of our fathers is to be destroyed because the original plan by which the small states were to have in this body the same power that the large states have is now objectionable to the senator from New York. It is not any small thing to talk about changing the political conditions in this country, changing the form of government under which we have lived and grown so great and strong. You cannot maintain in this country a government upon the theory upon which this government was established if you concentrate all the power in the hands of the great states."

"The United States was organized by the wisest men who ever lived, on this continent, at least, and I think I should not exaggerate if I said upon any other. They organized it wisely. They provided that the smaller states should have in this body the power that the great states have, and now, after more than one hundred years, is there any reason for any man to stand in this chamber and condemn that system of government?"

"New England, with its twelve senators in this body, has not as many people as has the state of New York. Has this government ever suffered, Mr. President, by the small states of New England being represented in this body?"

"I say here, and I want to say it to the senator, that he does not represent anybody in this country when he talks about breaking up the form of government which our fathers established, and which the experience of more than a hundred years has shown to be the wisest of any government ever established under the sun."

"I have listened to a good deal of nonsense, and I have listened without protest during this debate to a good deal that I consider beneath the dignity of the senate; but I could not listen to what the senator from New York has said without saying here, as a senator from one of the sovereign states of this union and as a citizen of the United States, that I resent the suit, and I think the American people will resent this insult from the senator from New York."

FRANCIS GIVEN WARM WELCOME

France Worked Up Over the St. Louis Exposition.

GRAND BANQUET IN PARIS

THE AMERICAN WAS THE GUEST OF HONOR.

Paris, March 7.—A remarkable demonstration of Franco-American cordiality occurred at the banquet given at 11 o'clock this morning at the Hotel Continental to President Francis of the St. Louis exposition. It was under the presidency of Minister of Commerce Trouillot and was attended by 500 of the foremost officials, including a personal representative of President Loubet; practically the entire ministry and representatives of the state, senate, chamber of deputies, judiciary and the army and navy. Mr. Francis arrived here from Madrid late last night, and owing to his intention to leave for Berlin at 1 o'clock the banquet was arranged for an unusually early hour.

The corridors leading to the banquet hall were lined on either side by long lines of French and American uniforms with buttons and epaulettes and flowing red plumes. On the upper landing was stationed the famous band of the One Hundred and Fourth regiment of infantry, which played the "Marseillaise" as the distinguished officials assembled.

Ovation to Francis.

When President Francis arrived he was enthusiastically greeted and the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." During a prolonged demonstration Mr. Francis was escorted to the post of honor with Colonel Meaux St. Marie of President Loubet's personal staff at his right and the minister of commerce at his left. The full capacity of the spacious banquet hall was taxed by the guests, who were seated at twelve long tables flanking the table occupied by the seats of honor.

Others who sat near Francis were Minister of Instruction Chaumie, Minister of the Colonies Doumergue, the commander-in-chief of the army, Minister of Public Works Marjolein; M. Derville, director general of the Paris exposition of 1900; former Minister Krantz, Domet, Pocher and Le Bon; the commander-in-chief of the St. Louis exposition, M. La Grave; the presidents of the trading club, industrial and financial organizations of the country, and representatives of the United States consular and Commercial Councils. Seldom had such a notable gathering of officials and representatives been seen here.

The decorations of the hall were significant of the Franco-American cordiality, the central piece being a sunburst, the central piece being a sunburst.

BEAUTY AND PURITY

Ancient and Modern Ideas on the Subject. Time and Disease the Effacing Agents of Beauty. What Has Science Done to Restore the Lily and the Rose?

Socrates called beauty a short-lived tyrant. Plato a privilege of nature. Theophrastus a delightful prejudice. Theophrastus a client class, Carneades a solitary kingdom. Homer a glorious gift from nature, Ovid a favor of the gods. Aristotle affirmed that beauty was better than all the letters of recommendation in the world, and yet none of these distinguished authorities has left as even a hint of how beauty is to be perpetuated, or the ravages of age and disease defied. Time soon blends the lily and the rose into the pallor of age, disease dots the fair face with untimely disfigurements and erases the human nose with unsightly fumes, moth, if not rust, corrupts the glory of eyes, teeth, and lips yet beautiful by defacing the complexion, and fills the sensitive soul with agony unexpressed.

If such be the unhappy condition of one afflicted with slight skin blemishes, what must be the feelings of those who have to contend with the ravages of time, covering the skin with scales and sores and charring, the blood with poisonous elements to become a part of the system until death? It is vain to attempt to portray such suffering. Death in many cases might be considered a blessing. The blood and fluids seem to be impregnated with a very deadly virus, covering the skin with scales and sores and charring, the blood with poisonous elements to become a part of the system until death? It is vain to attempt to portray such suffering. Death in many cases might be considered a blessing.

Thus do complexional defects merge into scurfy disease, and ripened vanity give place to real suffering. A little wart on the nose or cheek grows to the all-devouring lupus, a patch of tetter on the palm of the hand or on the limbs suddenly envelops the body in its fiery embrace, a bruise on the leg expands into a gnawing ulcer, which reaches out its fangs to the sufferer's heart. In every paroxysm of pain, a small kernel in the neck multiplies into a dozen, which eat away the vitality, great pearl-like scales grow from little rash-like inflammations in such abundance as to pass curiosity; and so on may we depict the sufferings to which poor human nature is subject, all of which involve great distress because of personal disfigurements.

If there were not another external disease known, eczema alone would be a sufficient affliction on mankind. It pervades all classes, and descends impartially through generations. While some are constantly enveloped in it, others have it confined to small patches on the face, on the scalp, on the breast, on the palms of the hands, on the limbs, and, everywhere its distinctive feature is a small watery blister, which discharges an acrid, burning, and itching fluid, and intense itching, ringworm, tetter, scalded head, dandruff, belong to this class, and lead to the most distressing of all diseases, the scurfy disease, or modern leprosy, with its morbid pearl scale, situated on a reddened base, which bleeds upon the removal of the scale, is to be dreaded and avoided, as of old. It is the most terrible of all diseases, and a score of minor disorders make up in all the catalogue of external diseases of the skin. Thus far we have made no allusion to those afflictions which are manifestly impurities of the blood; viz: swelling of the glands of the throat, sores on the neck and limbs, tumors, abscesses, and mercurial poisoning, with loss of hair, because the whole lot can be comprehended in the one word scurfy.

It is in the treatment of torturing, disgusting humors and affections of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, that the Cuticura remedies have achieved their greatest success. Original in composition, scientifically compounded, absolutely pure, unchangeable in any climate, always ready, and agreeable to the most delicate and sensitive, they present to young and old the most successful cures of modern times. This will be considered strong language by those acquainted with the character and obstinacy of blood and skin humors, but it is based on innumerable successes where all the remedies and methods in vogue have failed to cure, and in many cases to make even worse.

The Cuticura treatment is at once agreeable, speedy, economical, and comprehensive. Rather the sufferer should treat with water and Cuticura soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, with harsh rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment to all itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent, to clear and cleanse the blood. This treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep, the removal of scales and other blemishes, itching, burning, and scaly humors, and points to a speedy, permanent, and economical cure of torturing, disgusting humors, eczema, rashes, and inflammations, from infancy to age, when all other remedies and the best physicians fail. The remedies constituting the Cuticura system will remove an individual scrutiny of their remarkable properties.

Cuticura Soap contains in a modified form the medicinal properties of Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure and purest and sweetest of emollients, combined with the most delicate and refreshing of flower odors. It purifies and invigorates the pores of the skin, and imparts activity to the oil glands and trices, thus furnishing an outlet for an unwholesome matter, which, if retained, would cause pimples, blackheads, rashes, oily, mothy skin, and other complexional disfigurements, as well as scalp affections and itching, and, lastly, it softens and soothes the skin, and keeps it in a healthy condition. The lubricators of the skin keep the latter transparent, soft, flexible, and healthy. Hence its constant use, assisted by an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment, realizes the fairest complexion, the softest, whitest hands, and the most luxuriant, glossy hair within the domain of the most advanced scientific knowledge to supply.

Please call. HOLZKAMP & SCHLEIF, Merchant Tailors.

Speeches of Welcome.

After an elaborate meal, speeches of welcome were made by M. Ancelet, president of the French Foreign Exposition company and the minister of commerce. M. Ancelet closed his remarks with presenting to Mr. Francis superb miniature painting representing the French art. The minister of commerce, in behalf of President Loubet and the ministry, presented Mr. Francis with a magnificent service vase and Mrs. Francis he presented an exquisite fan of ivory, lace and silk.

Mr. Francis made a feeling response, saying he recognized this reception as chiefly a tribute to cordiality of French sentiment toward the sister republic. He closed with a speech in French which evoked great applause.

The banquet was ended with the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and the French national anthem. Mr. Francis hurried away to catch a train for Berlin.

During the banquet an autograph letter from President Loubet was read, expressing his warmest wishes for the success of the exposition, and his personal interest in the French art.

In the course of M. Trouillot's speech he said France and the United States were bound together by the bonds of historical association, commercial life and similarity of political institutions. These were bonds of the heart as well as of interest. Moreover, he added, France recognized that the time had come when she would give a fitting recognition and return for the magnificent part the United States had taken in the exposition of 1889. His toast, "To the United States and France, the Two First Republics on Earth," was drunk standing, and amid cheers and the waving of "danker-chiefs."

Mr. Francis, in the course of his response, said his reception would have the effect of further showing to the American people the friendliness felt for them by the people of the sister republic.

President Cachard of the American chamber of commerce also spoke. He referred to the growing prospect of closer commercial relations between France and the United States, and in behalf of the American chamber presented Mr. Francis with a large loving cup of silver, lined with gold.

You have the most convincing evidence of this fact every day. Otherwise beautiful faces marred with black heads, blotches and pimples, muddy or sallow complexions, and red, rough or oily skins are some of the most common and conspicuous symptoms of bad blood.

You can hide these ugly and humiliating blemishes by glazing them over with face powders and rouge, and the rough and discolored skin is made white and smooth by a lavish use of cosmetics, but these artificial complexions and false skins only last for a day, when the eruptions and spots stand out as bare and brazen as ever. The natural beauty and smoothness of the skin cannot be permanently restored by the use of external applications, for the reason that these skin diseases are due to some poison or humor in the blood that must be antidoted and eliminated before the skin can or will return to a healthy state. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. all impurities are expelled from the blood, the general health is invigorated, and all disfiguring and annoying eruptions promptly and permanently disappear from the skin, and it becomes as soft and smooth as ever.

Bad blood tells in many other ways. Itching and burning eruptions, rashes and sores, boils and carbuncles show the presence of some irritating poison or unhealthy matter in the blood, and these aggravating troubles will continue until the weak and slow circulation has been quickened again. Some are born with bad blood, and it begins to tell in infancy; scrofulous affections, sore eyes, scalp diseases, nasal catarrh, stunted growth, brittle bones and soft, flabby muscles are some of the early manifestations of bad blood by inheritance. These symptoms, if neglected, may develop into some deep-seated and serious blood trouble later on in life, but the timely use of S. S. S. will check the disease in its incipency, remove all taint from the circulation, and the little sufferers grow into healthy manhood and womanhood.

When the blood is healthy and pure it tells a different story, a smooth and flawless skin glowing with health, a sound body and active brain, well nourished system, good appetite and digestion, and restful and refreshing sleep. S. S. S., combining both purifying and tonic properties, contains all that you need in the way of a blood builder and skin beautifier.

S. S. S. is Nature's Remedy. It contains no Arsenic, taken without fear of any hurtful effects, and with perfect assurance of a speedy and lasting cure. Our illustrated book on the Skin and its Diseases contains much plain and practical information about eruptive diseases, their cause and cure, how to take care of the skin, etc., that will be of inestimable value to all sufferers. We will mail you a copy free.

Write us about your case and our physicians will gladly furnish any information or advice desired without charge.

GO TO SLAY BUFFALO

Sportsmen Leave For Antelope Island to Take Part in Big Hunt Today.

An exciting buffalo hunt will take place on Antelope island in Great Salt Lake today. A party of hunters, well armed, left for the scene of the chase yesterday afternoon and three big buffaloes will bite the dust before night today.

The hunt will probably take place on the west side of the island where the herd of buffalo feeds in the winter time. In the herd of fifteen or twenty that lives on the island are three male buffaloes that have become so notorious that they are a menace to human life on the islands. They have become so fierce, it is said, that they chase men on horseback and nothing can be done with them.

It was accordingly decided that the three should be killed. John White, J. Parley White, Sheriff Frank Emery and
